

Escape of thiotrophic endosymbiont from dead hydrothermal vent tubeworm

Monika Bright – mbe.univie.ac.at

- Horizontally transmitted symbionts enter the host each host generation anew. They must, however, also leave the host to re-join with the free-living population.

- Detection and quantification of escaped free-living symbiont using fluorescence in situ hybridization